

Rally for respect!

Join the New Jersey Statewide Self-Advocacy Network, the New Jersey Self-Advocacy Project, the New Jersey Developmental Disabilities Council and hundreds of New Jersey citizens to speak up for dignity and respect for people with developmental disabilities by taking a stand against the hurtful use of the words, “retard” and “retarded”.

As a part of National Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month representatives from every New Jersey county will call for :

- * People with developmental disabilities to be recognized as contributing members of society.
- * Pledging to stop the hurtful use of the words, “retard” and “retarded” in everyday language.
- * Support to remove these words from all state government documents.
